New America Receives Eagle Award

On Tuesday, September 20, 2011, New America Corporation received the Eagle Award from the SC Association for Community Economic Development. The award was presented to New America Corporation at the 2011 SC Community Economic Development Conference in Myrtle Beach, SC.

The Eagle Award is given to organizations that exhibit excellence in advancing community economic development within South Carolina communities. "We are proud to have received this distinguished award that recognizes our efforts in helping individuals access the American Dream," said Adolphus Johnson, President & CEO of New America Corporation.

The South Carolina Association for Community Economic Development (SCACED) is a state-wide trade association of nonprofits, community development corporations (CDCs), community development financial institutions (CDFIs), local governments, financial institutions, corporations and other entities working within the state's economically distressed communities.

New America Corporation is a nonprofit organization committed to helping individuals and communities access the American Dream through overcoming socio-economic barriers in the areas of education, housing, and business. More information can be found at www.new-america.org.
